

The Dead Company ft. Diana Harmon Garnand – Body (Sadness & Sorrow Pt6)

Diana Harmon Garnand • over 5 years ago

Original

Share Save to Favorites Spoken Word

0.00 / 5.32

Like 0 Tweet 1 +1 0

Tags: TDC TheDeadCompany Zebrabook Diana Harmon Garnand Body Sadness Sorrow Death Life Poetry Spoken Word

Jon Bushaway zebrabook – Music, words

Diana Harmon Garnand – Vocal

Image: Virginia Maksymowicz. Female Body, 1975.

Body

There is a body on the grass over there
 People are pointing and are in tears
 I start to walk on over
 In the wind the siren nears

It's cold here so very cold
 As I approach the crowd
 I push my way to the front
 The siren now so loud

I talk but no one listens
 As the crowd begins to part
 The siren now has stopped
 A chill forms in my heart

A voice whispers suicide
 Her only way out it said
 But he really killed her
 Is he happy now she's dead?

I look down at the body
 Suicide I would agree
 For I should really know
 For that body is me.

Stats for this track

	This Week	Total
▶ Plays	-	120
💬 Comments	-	74
♥ Favoritings	-	17

Uploaded by

Diana Harmon Garnand ★ •
 🎧 52 | 👤 1112 Follow

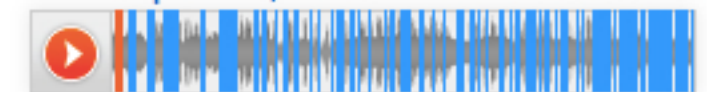

🔍 Report copyright infringement

In 1 Set

The Dead Company – Sadness & Sorrow
 11 Tracks, 1.29.26

More tracks by Diana Harmon Garnand

I SEE LIGHT ~ John Holloway \(Unique Way\) & Diana Harmon Garnand \(Please see Description\)

Hour of Fulfillment by Llewelyn Powys ~ Recitation by Diana Harmon Garnand